Do your thing. You certainly don't need me. But if you prefer to not be a lone voice, I can make it work after 4:30. Your call...I'm fine either way

Do you want to do earlier in the day? It's the second day of school, and I am trying to visit the schools I didn't get to today, so I won't be able to talk for long.

Emilio and Cristina,

Would either/both of you be able to talk to Howard Blume tomorrow regarding an article he is pulling together on co-locations? The topline is that we would love this article to be somewhat balanced, but also at least include some references to long-term facilities agreements as being a potential solution.

Ebony is leading the charge on this and can coordinate with you and Richard if either/both of you are willing to go on record from an overarching win-win for kids, long-term facilities perspective sometime tomorrow.

Let us know if you are open to it.

Thank you both,

Cassy
